IRON HONOR 9-2 FAVORITE IN PREAKNESS STAKES

By Bob Ehalt

@BobEhalt

This is not your typical edition of the Preakness Stakes (G1).

While the 2020 race, which was contested in October due to the COVID-19 pandemic, was unprecedented, the May 16 renewal has a number of unique elements tied to it.

Consider:

• The 1 3/16-mile middle jewel of the Triple Crown is being contested at Laurel Park as the reconstruction of Pimlico Race Course is underway.

• For a second straight year, the connections of the Kentucky Derby (G1) winner elected to bypass the Preakness and eschew running on two weeks' rest to target the Belmont Stakes (G1).

• The top finisher exiting the Run for the Roses and running in the Preakness? He's a maiden.

• Female trainers could make it two wins in a row in the Triple Crown.

• The 3-year-old colt that many observers expected to be the favorite was withdrawn from consideration the morning of the post position draw.

• A horse that wasn't under consideration a day before the draw was entered and is among the three second choices in the morning line.

• Amongst a field of 14, there is only one grade 1 winner and no one who has finished better than third in a grade 1 this year.

Welcome to the 2026 Trifle Crown.

Iron Honor wins the Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct Racetrack

Through all of this unusual activity, at least the May 11 draw for the $2 million Preakness produced a tried and true methodology for favoritism as Gotham Stakes (G3) winner Iron Honor drew post nine in a field of 14 and was installed as a 9-2 morning-line favorite in the spring classic for 3-year-olds.

Trainer Chad Brown has won the Preakness twice, both times with a 3-year-old who ran in the Wood Memorial, skipped the Kentucky Derby, and arrived in Maryland with six weeks' rest. He'll try for a hat trick Saturday with St. Elias Stable, William Lawrence, and Glassman Racing's Iron Honor, who had a rough trip in the Wood and finished seventh in his last start.

"He's very live in this race," Brown said. "He reminds me a lot of Cloud Computing (Brown's 2017 Preakness winner). They are very similar looking in size, shape, and color. They move the same. Cloud Computing had a much better performance in the Wood (third), but he had a better trip."

There was speculation Arkansas Derby (G1) runner-up Silent Tactic would be the Preakness favorite, but trainer Mark Casse decided against it due to a bruised foot that also kept the son of Tacitus out of the opening leg of the Triple Crown.

Reflective of an utterly wide-open race, three horses were priced at 5-1 with another at 6-1.

Pin Oak Stud's Incredibolt was the last-minute addition after the defection of Silent Tactic. Winner of the Virginia Derby for trainer Riley Mott, the son of Bolt d'Oro was bumped while rallying in the stretch of the Kentucky Derby and wound up a hard-luck sixth.

Grouped with the 5-1 shots, he drew post 12.

"I thought this was a great call by Riley. He says the horse is doing great and it seems like a good idea," said Pin Oak vice president Ben Bernhard. "With a race like the Preakness, you have to let the horse tell you and this is what he's telling Riley."

> "I think we're in a very good spot with (Chip Honcho) right now."
> —STEVEN M. ASMUSSEN

Chip Honcho was second to Paladin in the Risen Star Stakes (G2) but bypassed the Kentucky Derby after finishing fifth in the Louisiana Derby (G2). Trainer Steve Asmussen expects an improved performance from the Connect colt owned by Leland Ackerley, James Sherwood, Jode Shupe, and John Cilia.

"I think we're in a very good spot with him right now," Asmussen said about Chip Honcho, who has post six and is priced at 5-1.

After Golden Tempo put Cherie DeVaux in the record books as the first female trainer of a Kentucky Derby winner, trainer Brittany Russell will try to duplicate that feat in the Preakness with the undefeated Taj Mahal.

Based at Laurel Park, where he is unbeaten in his three starts with a pair of stakes victories, Taj Mahal will carry the hopes of Maryland, which has not produced a Preakness winner based within its borders since Deputed Testamony in 1983.

The speedy Florida-bred son of Nyquist will break from the rail and was pegged at 5-1 odds. He is owned by SF Racing, Starlight Racing, Madaket Stables, Stonestreet Stables, Bashor Racing, Determined Stables, Golconda Stable, Waves Edge Capital, and Catherine Donovan.

"It's good to see him get some respect with the odds," Russell said. "I don't love the rail, but he's a good gate horse. Hopefully he can get away clean and get a good position."

The aforementioned maiden is Ocelli, whose career earnings of $609,800 tower over his status as a non-winner. A son of Connect owned by Ashley Durr, Anthony Tate, and Front Page Equestrian, Ocelli staged an impressive rally in the stretch of the Kentucky Derby to grab the lead at the sixteenth pole at 70-1 odds. He could not fend off the victorious Golden Tempo and Renegade in the final yards, but distinguished himself by finishing third, just a length behind the winner.

Taj Mahal wins the Federico Tesio Stakes at Laurel Park

Trained by Whit Beckman, Ocelli was also third in the Wood Memorial (G2) in his previous start.

While the connections of Run for the Roses winner Golden Tempo wanted no part of the two-week spacing between the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, Beckman is unfazed by it.

"After running (in the Triple Crown) some horses want to sulk in the back of their stall, but not him," Beckman said. "He's been vibrant, happy. There's a glint in his eye; he's training great, so we're going to continue to roll with that. Being a maiden is a label he has, but he sure doesn't run like one."

Ocelli landed post two and is 6-1 in the morning line.

Talkin was third in the Blue Grass Stakes (G1) for trainer Danny Gargan, who says the son of Good Magic is primed for a big effort on Saturday.

"The last few weeks, he's come along. He's going in the right direction. I think he's going to go way forward," Gargan said. "I think he's going to run the race of his life."

Owned by Reeves Thoroughbred Racing, Pine Racing Stables, Legendary Thoroughbreds, Belmar Racing and Breeding, and R.A. Hill Stable, Talkin (20-1) has post five.

Great White caused some hearts to race when he flipped behind the starting gate during the load for the Kentucky Derby and was scratched. Trainer John Ennis says the son of Volatile is fine and ready to make amends in the Preakness.

"He's doing great," Ennis said. "I jogged him myself a mile (May 10). He came into the barn squealing and bucking and fresh as can be."

Great White (post 13, 15-1), who was fifth in the Blue Grass Stakes while racing on dirt for the first time, is owned by Three Chimneys Farm and Ennis.

Gold Square's Champagne Stakes (G1) winner Napoleon Solo (10, 8-1) may be winless in two starts at 3, but some brilliant recent workouts paint him as a prime player in the early pace and perhaps beyond that.

The rest of the field includes Robusta (4, 30-1), The Hell We Did (7, 15-1), Corona de Oro (11, 30-1), Bull By the Horns (8, 30-1), Pretty Boy Miah (14, 15-1), and Crupper (3, 30-1). BH

SILENT TACTIC SCRATCHED FROM PREAKNESS, STILL NOT 100%

By Eric Mitchell

@BH_EMitchell

Silent Tactic has been scratched from the Preakness Stakes (G1) as of the morning of May 11, as first reported by Daily Racing Form and confirmed by BloodHorse.

Trainer Mark Casse told BloodHorse he hoped to be making progress to heal Silent Tactic's bruised foot that caused John Oxley's son of Tacitus to be scratched from the Kentucky Derby (G1). The colt had been wearing a protective shoe with a full pad that covered the entire bottom of the foot, but he cannot race with it, so Casse knew it would have to be removed.

"Knowing we were going to have to take it off, we took it off and he actually galloped quite nice this morning," Casse said. "You would never know there is anything wrong with him. It is just when he jogs. He is still not 100%. Mr. Oxley and I talked yesterday and agreed that if we were not 100%, we'll pass."

Silent Tactic is expected to be sent to Casse's New York division where he will have renowned farrier Ian McKinlay assess the foot and see if there is anything else that can be done. The colt wears a regular glue-on shoe instead of one secured by nails because of the frequency a racehorse may have to have the shoes changed.

"It takes them a good month to grow some foot when you're using nails for a shoe," Casse said. "With horses changing shoes as much as they do, you don't have the extra foot. So this just helps them."

Casse said he and veteran owner/breeder Oxley are both accustomed to these late decisions that have to be made prior to major races.

Oxley's Sky Mesa was the 3-1 morning-line favorite in the 2002 Breeders' Cup Juvenile (G1) and the colt had to be scratched the morning of the race because of an ankle injury. Also, the day before the 2017 Belmont Stakes (G1), Oxley's Classic Empire had to be scratched due to a foot abscess.

"We are both disappointed, but there are a lot of big races down the road," Casse said. "Rather than us deciding when he's going to run, we'll let him let us when he's ready to run. We are not worried about what's next.

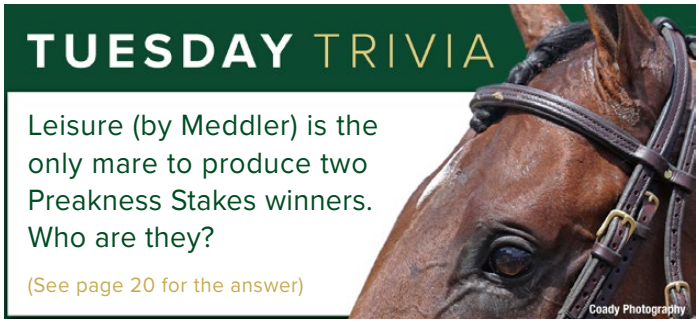

COADY MEDIA/RENEE TORBIT

Silent Tactic

"I mean, he's barely off. He might have even passed the pre-race vet inspection, but Mr. Oxley and I have been each doing this about 50 years. If I am not happy running a horse, it doesn't matter what someone else thinks." BH

CONNECTIONS HOPE PATIENCE PAYS OFF WITH TALKIN

By Julie June Stewart/America's Best Racing

To Derby or not to Derby. It's an interesting predicament facing trainers who have horses "on the cusp" of the leaderboard earning points to be a Kentucky Derby (G1) contender. Hall of Fame trainer D. Wayne Lukas was famous for his, "You can't win it if you're not in it" philosophy. But along the Derby trail, a trainer must evaluate the condition of their horse, the possibility of winning, and what lessons the horse will learn from the race.

Trainer Danny Gargan is a patient man. He studies the horses trusted to his care and is mindful of selecting their races. His perspective comes from a lifetime around horses. He grew up just outside the gates of Churchill Downs. His father, Danny Gargan Sr., was a talented jockey who won the 1973 Kentucky Oaks (G1) aboard C.V. Whitney's Bag of Tunes.

Gargan worked as a jockey agent and served as an assistant trainer to Mark Hennig, Merrill Scherer, and Nick Zito before venturing out on his own in 2013. Since then, he has won graded stakes races with horses such as Tax (2019 Jim Dandy Stakes (G2) and Withers Stakes (G3)) and Divine Miss Grey (2018 Chilukki Stakes (G2)). In 2024, Gargan won the Belmont Stakes (G1) at Saratoga Race Course with Dornoch (Good Magic-Puca, by Big Brown). He proudly notes a family connection to that race; his father rode Pvt. Smiles in the 1973 Belmont Stakes, won by Triple Crown winner Secretariat.

Preakness Stakes contender Talkin was bred by Fifth Avenue Bloodstock and consigned by Indian Creek, a premier Bourbon County, Ky. operation known for selling high-quality yearlings and mares. He sold for $600,000 at the 2024 Keeneland September Yearling Sale. Like Dornoch, Talkin is by Good Magic, the 2017 Breeders' Cup Juvenile (G1) winner who finished second to Justify in the 2018 Kentucky Derby. He was produced by Rote, a daughter of Tiznow who won once and finished in the top three five times in her 11-race career. Talkin is a half-brother (same dam (mother), different sire (father) to grade 2-placed Royal Obsession, the dam of grade 1 winner Clicquot.

Talkin was purchased by bloodstock agents Megan Jones and Scott Everett, who frequently work with Gargan and specialize in identifying racing prospects. The current ownership group now consists of majority owner Mark Pine's Pine Racing Stable, Reeves Thoroughbred Racing (Dean and Patti Reeves), Legendary Thoroughbreds (Raj Lally), Belmar Racing and Breeding (Vito Cucci), and R. A. Hill Stable (Randy Hill).

Pine was at the sale, and he explained what stood out. "What we really liked about him was that he certainly had a powerful walk. His conformation is just perfect. His legs are really straight. He'd be a sound horse. The second thing is pedigree. Obviously, we liked Good Magic because of Dornoch. He looks like a smaller version of Dornoch."

One detail Pine mentioned is Talkin's eye. Instead of a dark sclera, Talkin has a white eye on one side just like Dornoch. Pine said, "He's throwing some of his characteristics to this horse. That was an appealing thing to this breeding."

Gargan shared how Talkin got his name. "We were all hanging out, and Mark Pine is a bit of a talker. He owned part of Dornoch, and he loves to talk about him a whole lot. So, we decided to name the horse Talkin after Mark."

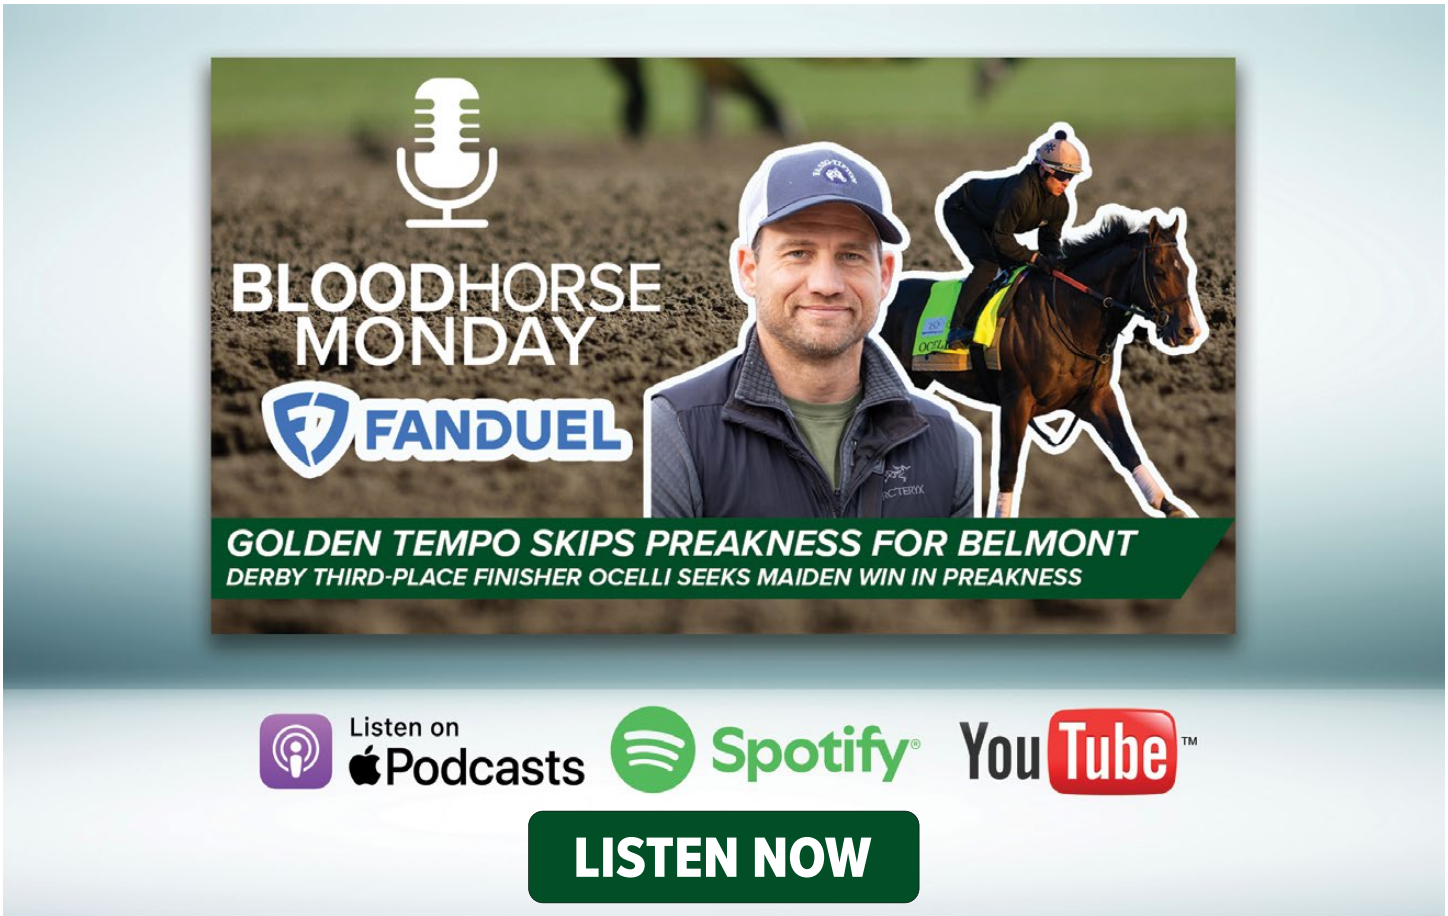

Talkin was sent to Nellie and Chetley Breeden of Grade One Investments at Two Springs Farm in Micanopy, Fla., for his early training. Gargan says Talkin was Nellie's favorite horse on the farm.

With Talkin emerging as a legitimate talent, the ownership group carefully considered the Kentucky Derby. His resume of five races includes a debut win at Saratoga, a runner-up finish in the Champagne Stakes (G1) at age 2, and a third-place finish in the Blue Grass Stakes (G1) April 4 at Keeneland.

After his Saratoga win, jockey Kendrick Carmouche said, "This horse is going to keep improving and I think the distance is going to help him."

Gargan has started three runners in the Kentucky Derby (Tax in 2019, Dornoch and Society Man in 2024) but doesn't suffer from "Derby Fever."

"It's not that we don't want to win the Derby. It's just the Derby is kind of a tough situation with that many horses, and with where our horse was, we didn't think it would be the right thing to do to the horse," Gargan explained. "We've targeted the Preakness all year and this! We've made it there. We think we're coming in there with the horse going in the right direction at the right time."

The plan was to wait for the Preakness and ask Talkin to tackle 1 3/16 miles.

Dean Reeves agreed. "It was really a group decision. Everybody in this partnership has been around the block, so we weren't emotionally fixed on the Derby. Our realistic goal was that he would improve with a little more time, and that the Preakness would be a better fit for him."

Pine echoed that sentiment. "Everyone of us has had enough success that we were able to not have any contention on that issue. The goal is to get another horse that can become a grade 1 winner. And if you win a classic, that would be fantastic."

Reeves also described Talkin's gradual development. "Talkin is a horse that we've had to bring along slowly. He's slowly grown into himself. He's a real laid-back dude and nothing bothers him, which has been good. He has talent—we recognize that—but we needed to let him mature. By doing that, we've seen improvement. There's always been a step forward. He's good-looking, physically balanced, and moves well on the track."

Pine said Talkin's "got a bit of an attitude" but is also easygoing. "He behaves really well. He's chill—nothing upsets him. He generally breaks better than any horse in the field. He just sits and waits and when it's time to go, he goes. He's a very manageable horse, so he doesn't burn up extra energy. His name could be Chill. He's just chill."

Bypassing the Kentucky Derby is never an easy call, but this experienced group of owners listened to Gargan's assessment and agreed to think long term—toward summer targets and potentially a future as a stallion. Physically, Talkin has been described as a modestly built horse who is still adding weight and muscle as he fills out. If patience pays off, he could arrive at the middle jewel of the Triple Crown at exactly the right time.

Talkin is feeling his oats. Gargan admitted, "He bit the tip of my groom's finger off. He can be really sweet and then he bites. But he's doing everything right. I'm really pleased with how he's coming into the race."

After his recent workout at Keeneland, Gargan believes they are ready. "He's worked really well, went in (:47 4/5), galloped out nice. He's acting good, eating good, looks good. We have him as good as we can get him right now. We just have to get lucky and hope he's good enough to win the race now. I do love how my horse is doing."

The decision has been made, patience has been practiced, and now it's time to let Talkin speak for himself in the Preakness. BH

PLETCHER SUSPENSION UPHELD BY NEW YORK APPELLATE COURT

By Dick Downey

@DowneyProfile

A New York appellate court affirmed May 7 a ruling suspending Hall of Fame trainer Todd Pletcher's license to participate in Thoroughbred racing for 10 days.

The decision was handed down by an unanimous panel of the Third Judicial Department of the New York Supreme Court Appellate Division.

KATE BONAFEDE

Todd Pletcher

Forte won the Hopeful Stakes (G1) by three lengths Sept. 5, 2022, at Saratoga Race Course. According to the court record, however, post-race blood and urine samples from Forte tested positive for Meloxicam, a non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drug, at the New York Drug Testing and Research Program. Split samples sent to the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory confirmed the presence of Meloxicam in the post-race samples.

The New York State Gaming Commission, through the state steward, issued a notice to Pletcher suspending him for 10 days and imposing a fine of $1,000. A hearing officer subsequently recommended that the penalties be upheld.

Stewards also disqualified Forte and elevated Gulfport to first place in the Hopeful. A legal challenge to that action is pending in a separate, and still pending, New York lawsuit brought by owner Mike Repole. A third amended complaint was recently filed in that case, which has extensive filings since its inception more than two years ago.

The Pletcher case marks the second time in recent months that a New York appellate court has dealt with a suspension imposed against the trainer. In March, a New York appellate court ruled in the case of the racehorse Capensis, a Pletcher trainee, that evidence of an overage of phenylbutazone, also known as "bute," was improperly allowed into evidence in a prior proceeding and ordered a new hearing. Pletcher had been handed a 14-day suspension before he appealed.

The appellate court in the just-decided Forte case ruled that the presence of Meloxicam in the post-race samples was enough to support the suspension. The test results were stipulated into evidence by all sides.

"Based on the foregoing, respondent's determination is supported by substantial evidence. Initially, given that the test results from the laboratory in Texas, which the parties stipulated to coming into evidence, were positive for Meloxicam in Forte's post-race samples of blood and urine, a violation ... was established by substantial evidence," wrote Judge Sharon Aarons. "Moreover, (this) creates a rebuttable presumption, which petitioner failed to rebut by substantial evidence. Although petitioner's witnesses offered alternative explanations for this positive finding, these explanations were mere speculation, which does not rebut the presumption of Pletcher's responsibility."

"We are in process of reviewing the court's order and (will) proceed ... with all our options," Pletcher's attorney Drew Mollica wrote in response to an inquiry from BloodHorse.

The Pletcher cases and the Forte disqualification occurred before the effective date of rule-making and enforcement powers created by the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act that supplanted state-by-state regulations and regulators in medication infraction cases and other matters. BH

FILLY RHYTHM OF CROWN SCORES FIRST FOR JACK CHRISTOPHER

By Frank Angst

@BH_FAngst

Freshman stallion Jack Christopher saw his first winner May 8 when filly Rhythm of Crown captured a maiden race at Hipodromo of the Americas in Mexico City.

An unbeaten grade 1 winner at 2 who added two more grade 1 scores at age 3, Jack Christopher stands for $15,000 at Ashford Stud near Versailles, Ky. The son of Munnings—Rushin No Blushin, by Half Ours, entered stud in 2023 and last year 139 of his yearlings sold for an average of $109,511 and a median of $80.000.

ANNE M. EBERHARDT

Jack Christopher at Ashford Stud in 2023

Campaigned by Cuadra Gio, Rhythm of Crown rolled to a 2 3/4-length victory in that May 8 race, her career debut. She completed the 4 1/2 furlongs in :53 3/5 on a fast track to finish atop the field of six fillies. Rhythm of Crown is trained by Juan Carlos de La Rosa and was guided home by jockey Vicente Flores.

Martha Catalina Hernandez purchased Rhythm of Crown for $3,500 at the 2025 Keeneland September Yearling Sale where she was consigned by ELiTE, agent. Rhythm of Crown is the third reported starter for Jack Christopher.

Bred in Kentucky by Rhineshire Farm, Rhythm of Crown is out of the placed Distorted Humor mare Rhythm and Grace, who is a daughter of Amber Grace, a half sister to English classic winner Russian Rhythm.

Campaigned by Jim Bakke, Gerald Isbister, Coolmore Stud, and Peter Brant, Jack Christopher earned $1,216,400 in six starts, posting a 5-0-1 record. Trained by Chad Brown, Jack Christopher won the Champagne Stakes (G1) in 2021 and then, in 2022, captured the Pat Day Mile (G2), Woody Stephens (G1), and H. Allen Jerkens Memorial (G1) stakes. BH

HOT ROD CHARLIE'S FIRST WINNER CAPTURES DEBUT IN JAPAN

By Eric Mitchell

@BH_EMitchell

Grade 1 winner and freshman stallion Hot Rod Charlie, who finished second in two American classics, sired his first winner in Japan when his son Aperitivo won his racing debut May 5 at Mombetsu Racecourse.

The colt is owned by Katsumi Yoshida and trained by Junji Tanaka. He debuted running 1,100 meters (about 5 1/2 furlongs) on a dirt surface labeled as good. His final time was 1:08.5.

Aperitivo was bred out of the Manhattan Café winner Ora Legale, who raced as a homebred for Teruya Yoshida. To date, the mare has produced seven winners from nine foals of racing age. Ora Legale is out of the stakes winner Ora (Quiet American), who Shadai Farm bought for $160,000 out of the 2005 Keeneland January Horses of All Ages Sale from Eaton Sales.

Hot Rod Charlie entered stud at Shadai Stallion Station in 2023 at ¥2 million (about US$12,800) and this year stands for ¥1.5 million (about US$9,600).

The son of Calumet Farm Preakness Stakes (G1) winner Oxbow raced for Road Runner Racing, Boat Racing, Gainesway Stable, and Strauss Bros Racing. Trained by Doug O'Neill, Hot Rod Charlie won the 2021 Pennsylvania Derby (G1), Louisiana Derby (G2), and 2022 Lukas Classic Stakes (G2), while also finishing second in the Kentucky Derby (G1), Belmont Stakes (G1), and the 2022 Dubai World Cup (G1). He retired with a 5-6-3 record from 19 starts and earned nearly $6 million. BH

Highly Motivated at Airdrie Stud

Highly Motivated, a graded stakes winner and son of multiple leading North American sire Into Mischief, sired his first winner May 9 when his son Mischief Crown won his racing debut at Hipodromo de Las Americas in Mexico City.

Raced by Cuadra Los Agaves, Mischief Crown won a 4 1/2-furlong maiden race for trainer Samuel De La Rosa Lopez and jockey Alberto Palacios. The final time was :54 2/5.

Larry Mejias bred Mischief Crown in Florida out of the winning Munnings mare Richiesdreamgirl, whose immediate family includes grade 3 winner Richiegirlgonewild (Wildcat Heir) and stakes winner Super Allison (Super Saver). The colt was sold to Alejandro Contreras for $3,500 during the 2025 Fasig-Tipton October Yearling Sale out of the Paramount Sales consignment.

Highly Motivated is a half brother to grade 1 winners Ways and Means (Practical Joke) and Surge Capacity (Flintshire). He won or placed in four graded stakes, which included winning the 2022 Monmouth Cup Stakes (G3) and running second in the 2021 Blue Grass Stakes (G2) and Philip H. Iselin Stakes (G3) for Klaravich Stables and trainer Chad Brown. He retired with a 4-3-1 record from 10 starts and earned $667,375.

Airdrie Stud launched Highly Motivated's stud career and stands him for $7,500. He's been represented by seven six-figure sales during the 2-year-olds in training sales held so far this year. BH

FIRST TWO RICH STRIKE FOALS BORN APRIL 27 IN NEW YORK

By Eric Mitchell

@BH_EMitchell

The first reported foals by 2022 Kentucky Derby (G1) winner Rich Strike were both born April 27 in New York.

Eric Reed, the trainer of Rich Strike, and his wife Margaret Lynn bred one of the new foals, a filly out of the winning Kitten's Joy mare Dee Dee B. The mare is a daughter of French group 3 winner Marypop, who is by Layman.

Reed claimed Dee Dee B for Larry Rogers in 2024 and she wound up her three-year racing career with three consecutive wins. The Rich Strike filly is the mare's first foal and was born at Irish Hill Century Farm near Stillwater, N.Y., where the stallion stands for Irish Hill and Dutchess Views Stallions.

SKIP DICKSTEIN

One of the first foals by Rich Strike born April 27 in New York. This filly is out of the Kitten's Joy mare Dee Dee B.

Rich Strike stands for a syndicate team that has worked diligently to acquire mares to breed to the stallion in New York. The syndicate includes Kentucky owners and others who are new to the New York breeding industry, according to Reed.

The other Rich Strike foal is a colt out of Orma, a winning daughter of Posse, and was bred by Daniel Charles Snyder. Orma is out of the winning Fusaichi Pegasus mare Princess Jenny, who is out of multiple New York stakes winner Princess Dixie (Dixie Brass).

Rich Strike is a 7-year-old son of Keen Ice and out of the grade 3 winner and 2005 Canadian champion 3-year-old filly Gold Strike. He stands for $6,500. BH

NEXT SEASON IDEAL YEAR TO MAKE TRIPLE CROWN CHANGES

By Frank Angst
@BH_FAngst

Even the most committed of traditionalists would have a hard time arguing this point: If it were ever time to make some changes to the Triple Crown, the 2027 season would be a good time to do it.

For the first time since 2023, all three races will return to their traditional homes as the plan is for the Maryland Jockey Club to return the Preakness Stakes (G1) to Pimlico Race Course next year after a one-year stop at Laurel Park this year while Pimlico is being rebuilt. Pimlico renovations will not be complete next spring, but the thought is to bring the race home while providing a sneak peek of the changes.

The Belmont Stakes (G1) will be contested for a third straight year at Saratoga Race Course this season before plans call for a return to a sparkling new facility at its Belmont Park home.

The return to Churchill Downs-Pimlico-Belmont will be a big win for the series, and while it will be nice to return to that tradition, this new start will provide an excellent opportunity for change. I would focus on tweaking the race dates to some extent to better accommodate today's training methods. There's likely no perfect solution, but an effort that sees more Derby runners continue on to the Preakness would be welcomed.

To be clear, this isn't about making anything easier toward a Triple Crown sweep. The goal would be to have more Kentucky Derby (G1) winners and top runners go on to compete in Baltimore. With the connections of three of the past five Kentucky Derby winners choosing against this path, it's pretty clear that Derby-winning horsemen are no longer just rubber-stamping a trip to Pimlico.

SKIP DICKSTEIN

Journalism's 2025 Preakness Stakes win is celebrated with the painting of the weather vane

Perhaps some tweaks to the schedule would see more horses capable of getting back to 100%, or close to 100%, so that more horsemen again would see a trip to the Preakness as sporting while also fair to their horse.

Part of changing the race dates of the Preakness, and perhaps the Belmont, would be a way of attracting the Derby winner to the Preakness—yes—but also a way of having more of the top 3-year-olds compete in multiple legs of the series.

North American racing is still afforded one race, the Kentucky Derby (G1), that instantly creates a star with the general public each year. Beyond that, it brings some name familiarity with other top runners in the race—or even horses caught up in odd circumstances such as Great White, who currently may be the second-most well-known horse to the general public. That's the power of the Derby.

If tweaks can be made that make it more likely the Derby winner, as well as other Derby runners, return in the Preakness, it's worth pursuing. It would improve the depth of the Preakness field while also providing fans—including some more general fans—with horses they're familiar with.

Oddly, by racing standards, it wasn't that long ago that we saw a pair of Triple Crown winners in American Pharoah in 2015 and Justify in 2018, each trained by Bob Baffert. Those two reminded all that winning these three races in a five-week span is not an impossibility.

But things can change quickly. The recent run of Derby winners not even being entered in the Preakness seems to me a sign that the sport is no longer embracing this tradition. In fairness, just last year Journalism offered a counterpoint to all of this with his Derby and Belmont runner-up finishes sandwiching his Preakness win.

From the Magazine: Debating Best Timing of Preakness

It can be done, but do we want to lock into a tradition of just the occasional runner or a more inclusive race-timing that allows more top horses to recuperate from the Derby and then compete?

Making changes in 2027 seems to be good timing considering the series has seen plenty of changes in recent years. We saw the 2020 COVID year Belmont Stakes go first in the series at 1 1/8 miles. It was followed by a September Derby and an October Preakness. By the way, that completely untraditional Triple Crown saw Tiz the Law, Authentic, and filly Swiss Skydiver take top honors. That's a compelling trio for sure; not that I'm advocating for such dramatic changes going forward.

I would not be in favor of changing any race distances, but some changes to the calendar dates—the timing of the races—could help reinvigorate the series. I've loved everything about the Triple Crown's history. I'm also trying to think what's best for its future. BH

NZB RELEASES CATALOG FOR NATIONAL WEANLING SALE

By ANZ Bloodstock News Staff

The countdown to New Zealand Bloodstock's National Weanling Sale is underway, with a high-quality catalog of 140 youngsters by New Zealand's best stallions now available to view online at nzb.co.nz.

Set to be held June 25 at Karaka, the sale offers plenty of opportunities for both pinhookers and end users to secure commercial and racing stock, with the session a proven source of racetrack and investment success.

Buyers will have the opportunity to secure progeny of established and emerging sires such as Savabeel, Proisir, Super Seth, Sword of State, Almanzor, Ace High, Per Incanto, and Satono Aladdin, to name just a few.

"The catalog features the same commercial quality you would expect at the National Yearling Sale, which provides a fantastic opportunity for pinhookers and investors," NZB bloodstock sales manager Kane Jones said.

"There are a number of high-profile sires featured, which is a huge drawcard, as well as a first glimpse of progeny by first-season sires Chaldean, Hilal, Mr Mozart and Paddington.

"We've been supported by a number of leading vendors and top New Zealand breeders, with a rare chance to buy into Karaka-quality weanlings."

All weanlings offered are eligible to be nominated for NZB's lucrative Karaka Millions Series, featuring the Karaka Millions 2YO and the Karaka Millions 3YO.

Weanlings entered in the sale will be available for inspections at the on-farm parades, due to take place in early June, and on-site at the Karaka Sales Center, with NZB agents available to inspect on behalf of buyers. The schedule will be available soon.

Jones also expects the catalog to attract interest from across the Tasman, with plenty of Australians expected to be in town.

"We expect all the local participants to be active, but I think with the dollar the way it is at the moment, we fully expect some Australians to make the trip over as well," Jones told ANZ.

"We have had some wonderful graduates come out of the sale and some really successful pinhook results as well, so I fully expect there will be some more great results come out of the sale this year, and there is something for everybody.

"I think we are really focused on the proven and emerging sires, and I am really happy that all of the New Zealand first-season sires are represented in the catalog, albeit a small but select offering.

"It will give buyers a little taste of what is on offer, particularly looking ahead to 2027. I think 140 lots is a good number and enough to have plenty of people interested."

4 REPORT OPTIONS TO HELP YOU FIND THE BEST STALLION MATCH FOR YOUR MARE:

BROODMARE ANALYSIS
$199

You choose up to 50 potential stallions, and the report provides TrueNicks rating, broodmare sire improvement index, hypothetical 5-generation pedigree, and top 5 horses bred on each cross. Includes an Equineline catalog-style pedigree for your mare.

BROODMARE ANALYSIS PLUS
$250

In a format similar to Broodmare Analysis, this report adds TrueNicks Enhanced Reports for each mating, including cross-specific stats for number of starters, auction results, surface performance, win percentages, average winning distances, and the top 15 horses bred on each cross.

BROODMARE SELECT
$199

Use your stud fee and location criteria to find up to 50 stallions that rate B+ or better (A++, A+, A, B+) with your mare, essentially filtering out only the best nicking options. The report sorts stallions by TrueNicks variant score and features TrueNicks ratings, five generation pedigrees, and top five horses bred on the cross for each mating.

BROODMARE SELECT PLUS
$250

In a format similar to Broodmare Select, this report uses your stud fee and location criteria to find up to 50 stallions that rate B+ or better (A++, A+, A, B+) with your mare, essentially filtering out only the best nicking options, and features TrueNicks Enhanced Reports for each cross. Enhanced Reports add key data points for starters, auction results, surface performance, racing statistics, and the top 15 racehorses bred on the cross.
